Apsley House Whitchurch, Ross-on-Wye

Set in the heart of a highly sought-after village, this beautifully restored, attached four-bedroom Georgian home offers surprisingly spacious, light-filled accommodation across two well-appointed floors. Blending elegant period features with modern conveniences, the property benefits from enclosed, low-maintenance gardens and a paved sun terrace, and is conveniently located within easy reach of major road networks and a range of local amenities.

Asking price of £525,000 Freehold

Originally built in 1830 and extended in 1980, the property is traditionally constructed in stone with a painted rendered exterior and inset double glazed sash windows and doors set under pitched tiled roofs. Internal features include exposed beams and stonework, three original fireplaces, low voltage downlighters, moulded skirting boards and architraves, column radiators, window shutters, high ceilings, wooden panelled doors and a combination of engineered oak and carpeted flooring. An oil-fired boiler provides domestic hot water and heating to radiators throughout.
